BTS Simulation led by Peter Mulford, Executive Vice President & Chief Innovation Officer, BTS
- Executives today understand that digital technology is both an opportunity and a threat. The opportunity is to innovate and re-imagine parts of our business model and lay the foundation for continuous growth. The threat is the potential disruption to your business or industry. This blend of threat and opportunity has both created new businesses, and crippled or killed others.

During the Survivor's guide to Innovation & Digital Disruption we will explore some of the emergent mindsets, skillsets, and toolkits required to thrive in today's fast-paced environment of digital disruption. Participants will experience new approaches first-hand as you assume the helm of a business undergoing disruption and attempt to lead it successfully into a prosperous future. You will have fun in a fast-paced, competitive experience together with a team of new friends.
